"CHMA10H3 PRACTICALS WILL BE CLOSED AS OF 4:00 pm on Friday, September 5th

Odd-numbered practical groups have their first lab during the week of September 8th

Even numbered practical groups have their first lab during the week of September 18th

If you need to add or make changes to your practical group after this date, please e-mail Katelyn Downey at katelyn.downey@mail.utoronto.ca

Please be assured that all students enrolled in a Lecture will be accommodated in a practical/tutorial. The number of practicals/tutorials currently open in some Fall/Winter courses does not accommodate all students presently enrolled in them. This is deliberate because enrolment patterns change between now and the start of the term. When the term starts, if necessary, we will open additional practicals/tutorials to accommodate the students enrolled in the course at that time.

IDSB10H3 (F) - Political Economy of Knowledge Technology and Development

Open to all UTSC students. Enrolment will open to UTSG and UTM students on 6:00am on August 6, 2025.

Course Description: How is artificial intelligence shaping us, and who is engineering our futures

AI tools like ChatGPT, Zoom, and Canvas have become everyday platforms, yet they carry hidden assumptions about knowledge, labour, and power that often go unexamined. This course critically explores how AI is reshaping education, economic growth, and global inequality, raising urgent questions around data governance, techno-nationalism, and algorithmic justice and what they mean for development.

We will examine how digital infrastructures determine what counts as knowledge and whose interests they serve. Topics include algorithmic governance, platform capitalism, the geopolitics of AI, and Indigenous approaches to technology and sovereignty. Anchored in global and community contexts, we will explore how diverse groups resist, redesign, and reimagine technological systems.

Through case studies, media analysis, and collaborative mapping, students will explore strategies for asserting individual and collective agency, challenging extractive and inequitable systems, and imagining alternative AI futures grounded in justice, care, and epistemic pluralism.
